Summary:

In March this year, the Transport Secretary launched a call for evidence on Maritime 2050 – the government's landmark strategy to make the most of future opportunities for the UK's maritime industries to thrive. Maritime 2050 will set out the challenges and opportunities to allow the government and the UK maritime industry to plan for the long term and encourage economic growth.

This Christmas, we invite you to join us for some lively discussion on how best to influence Maritime 2050. The debate will focus on the three themes of People, Infrastructure and Technology, to identify the barriers and enablers within each topic.
